Plan to Purchase Montgomery School Being Considered

By Penn Valley Residents as Community Center for Section

WITH SWIMMING POOL

That the Montgomery School property in Wynnewood is being considered for a Penn Valley Community Center was revealed Tuesday evening by Walter D. Fuller, president of the Penn Valley Association, at the organization's seventh annual meeting in the parish house of All Saints' Church.

Also, according to Mr. Fuller's report, it is proposed to construct a swimming pool on the premises and make such alterations as would be necessary to change the building into a civic center.

The Montgomery School, which is expected to close permanently in June, and its grounds and buildings are being offered for sale and, according to Mr. Fuller, "the Executive Committee are unofficially studying the matter at this time and if their investigation shows possibilities of success you will, no doubt, be asked if you are interested. The organization, of course, will have to be separate from the association, but I am sure that your Executive Committee will help if such a project seems feasible."

Re-elected as officers were Mr. Fuller, president; Eugene Jordan and Henry W. Pfeffer, vice-presidents; J. G. Allen, secretary, and Herman O. West, treasurer.

Members re-elected to the Executive Committee for three year terms include:

Russell S. Boles, W. Morgan Churchman, Jr., William B. Grisco, H. W. Pfeffer, Thomas J. Skillman, Jr., Maurice W. Sloan, Jr., and Anton Emil Wohler.

The Nominating Committee included:

New Boy Scout

Troop is forming in Penn Valley; Inaugurate the 11th

Sponsored by the Penn Valley Association, the Unami Penn Valley Troop, Boy Scouts of America, has been formed, with 11 boys qualified as Tenderfoot Scouts, and others going through the preliminaries to join them.

The troop's name has been selected as appropriate to Penn Valley, because one of the Indian tribes that signed a treaty with William Penn was known as the Unami. The treaty was a verbal one, and was so decently observed by both sides, that it is being held up to the Penn Valley boys as a model of gentlemanly conduct.

John Jeavons is the troop's scoutmaster. . . . graduate of Gettysburg College, and chemist for Collins and Aikman. Assistant Scoutmaster is Charles Westman. Both are Eagle Scouts, and have taken courses prescribed for scoutmasters.

The Troop Committee: John Boardman, chairman; Fordyce A. Bothwell, secretary; Russell T. Blackwood, Jr., treasurer, and William W. Farr, George E. Kohn, Alfred L. Baker and Spencer Roberts.

The Penn Valley Association Committee that sponsored the troop consisted of Jean G. Allen, Herman O. West and Maurice W. Sloan, Jr.

"Double Door"

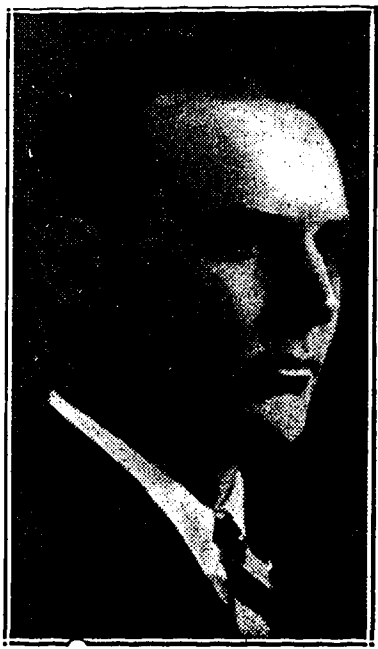

The Narberth Players' 30th production is now in rehearsal and will be produced Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19.

The cast includes the following six new members this season: Ruth Reich, Charlotte Hoskins, Jane Wilkinson, Jesse Harris, William Clippsham and Jerry Casey; and also six of the older members: Grace Werner, Marion McVicker, Francis Mitchell, William Hand, Hervey Keim and George Werner.

The production will be directed by William H. Muller with Fay Fetteroff as co-director. Special scenery is being built under the supervision of Joseph A. Hongler and will be painted by Ellwood Reich, an artist in his own right.

On Tuesday evening, the 8th, the regular monthly meeting and entertainment of the Players will be held as usual in Elm Hall. An unusual one-act performance will be given that will interest not only members, but guests as well.

Talks on Twp. Government

JOHN H. JEFFERIES, JR., who told Penn Valley Civic Ass'n that 57 acres of land had been acquired by the township for playgrounds during the past 2 years. Mr. Jefferies is chairman of the Playground Committee for the Township Commission.

Boro's Good Health Record Suffers Dent in February

Narberth, where often not a case of contagious disease is reported for weeks on end, suffered a setback from the army of germs in February.

At Tuesday night's Board of Health meeting, Health Officer George B. Suplee reported a month's contagion list of chicken pox, 6; pneumonia, 4; whooping cough, 1; mumps, 6; scarlet fever, 8; measles, 1. The scarlet fever patients and seven other cases are still under quarantine.

He also reported that St. Margaret's Parochial School was fumigated on February 22.

Present were Daniel Leitch, president; Mrs. R. C. Hoffman and Arthur L. Cooke.

"Wars Are Won

by economic resources and the morale of the people, rather than by the precision and power of their military organization," Richard Wood said Tuesday, addressing the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. He believes China may yet prevail against Japan, despite the aggressor's militaristic efficiency; that the United States, by building a big navy, is not merely preparing for trouble, but by encouraging an armaments race is inviting trouble.

Mr. Wood, who is executive secretary of the Peace Committee of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends, spoke as guest of Dr. Barclay Jones, of Friends' Central School, who is the club's International Service chairman. He said the best means toward international peace is to help other nations promote internal peace, by lessening trade restrictions and co-operating in the general improvement of economic welfare.

Visitors at Tuesday's luncheon included Chilton Company's vice-president, Joseph S. Hildreth, of Wynnewood, and Ned Miller, of Cynwyd.

Raymond Watrous, treasurer of L. L. Bringham and Company, will undertake to be the speaker Tuesday next.

Penn Valley Against Shooting

A committee of Herman O. West, chairman; W. Morgan Churchman, Daniel A. Newhall and Charles P. Stokes, was appointed Tuesday night by Walter D. Fuller, president of the Penn Valley Association, to attend the next meeting of the township Board of Commissioners and to ask that shooting be banned in that section.

The appointment followed a vote by the association expressing its opposition to shooting in the area where several homes have had buckshot charges lodged in the walls.

Players "Go to Town"

After the production of "Double Door" at Elm Hall, March 18-19, the Narberth Players will give the play at the Bellevue-Stratford the night of the 24th. Admission at the Philadelphia performance will be $1, but at the Narberth performance the usual half dollar. The "town" performance will be given with the special set now being built for the local production.

For Better Acquaintance, Parent-Teachers Begin Parties for Parents

For parents of the children in the Narberth Public School, the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association has planned a series of tea and dessert luncheon bridge parties. This Friday and bridge party at her home, Narberth will be two bridges, one at the home of Mrs. Caryl E. Starr, on Wynnewood court, when Mrs. Lou A. Young and Mrs. William Durbin will be the co-hostesses; and the other at Mrs. Charles L. Viguers, Jr., Woodside avenue, with Mrs. Ellsworth Clark and Mrs. John R. Stam assisting. Tickets are 50 cents.

Mrs. H. F. Darnes, of Grayling avenue, will entertain at a tea on Tuesday. She will be assisted by Mrs. Corwin Perisho. Tickets are 25 cents. Next Thursday, Mrs. Edmund Allen Whiting, president of the association, will entertain at a dessert luncheon and bridge party at her home, Narberth Park. Mrs. A. S. Knapp will assist.

Assemblyman Cadwalader Out For State Senator

Petitions Circulated This Week for Villanova Legislator

Keen interest in the senatorial contest for Montgomery County developed this week when petitions were circulated for five Republican candidates, two of whom are local.

The candidacy of Lambert Cadwalader, of Villanova, representative from the First Legislative District in the State Legislature, was announced yesterday—the latest in what promises to be an overcrowded field.

Cadwalader's candidacy was expected since rumors have been abroad for some time that his friends would urge the Main Line legislator to run for this post.

Samuel Ewing, young Bryn Mawr attorney and active young Republican, is the second Main Line man to enter the race, while Harold Pike, Cheltenham Township manager and political leader for that section, and John Longacre, present legislative representative also entered the contest this week.

The candidacy of Franklin Spencer Edmonds, Whitmarsh attorney and tax expert, was announced last week in a letter to the Republican Executive Committee.

J. William Ditter, Montgomery County Congressman, has received the endorsement of the Republican Executive County Committee for renomination and, to date, is unopposed.

Petitions are being circulated for Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, and Miss Nancy P. Higley, of Norristown, for nomination to the Republican State Committee.

Mr. Peters, who is president of the

The Child Study

Group sponsored by the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association will present Dorothy Waldo Phillips, well-known lecturer, at the monthly meeting in the Community Building, next Wednesday morning, at 10:30.

Her subject: "The Adolescent—Have You Met Him?"

Mrs. Phillips is consultant in adolescent problems at the Springfield High School, lecturer in adult education at the much-talked-of Monday evening classes at the Radnor High School, and a speaker in great demand by educational groups.

All interested in the needs of youth are cordially invited.

An organization meeting of Narberth's new Planning Commission was held last night at the borough hall. Members of the commission are Ralph S. Dunne, Walter R. O'Sullivan, William H. Durbin, Bert G. Simpson and John J. Cabrey.

Fire at Villanova!—Jallopies Will Form Pyre; Parade Is Tomorrow

After 8 P. M. next Monday there will be less used cars on the Main Line. After Saturday of next week, it is hoped there will be still less used cars in dealers' showrooms. The biggest publicity stunt in the nation's history begins this Saturday. It is sponsored by automobile manufacturers and has the blessing of President Roosevelt. "National Used Car Exchange Week" is planned to clear used cars from dealers' inventories and stimulate new car production and with it, national prosperity.

As a result of automobile dealers' conferences Monday and Tuesday nights at Ralph Springer's Allan C. Hale offices in Ardmore, there will be a parade this Saturday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock at Villanova Stadium, and proceeding along Lancaster pike to City Line, returning via Montgomery avenue to Lancaster pike, then to Malvern.

In the parade will be used cars, '37, '36, '35 and '34 models, which owners of less recent models are in-

Commissioners Vote 3-Mill Tax Rate for Montgomery County

Budget Decreased; Tax Rate at Same Level as it Was Last Year

Montgomery County Commissioners adopted the 1938 budget this week and voted to keep the county tax rate at the same level as last year. Fred C. Peters, president of the Board, presided at the meeting held at the Court House, Norristown.

The Commissioners voted a 2-mill tax rate for county purposes and a 1-mill tax rate for institutional districts. The 1-mill institutional tax is required by the new State Relief Code.

The 1938 budget is $2,486,121.08 and the additional institutional budget totals $252,503.50 making a total appropriation of $2,738,624.58 as compared to $3,505,172.96 for 1937. Reduction in the budget this year has been made possible by estimated savings for relief and in the highway department.

Besides 1937 department savings, which had made a reduced budget possible this year, loans amounting to $400,000 have been paid off by the commissioners, leaving the county free of any bonded indebtedness. The county started the new year with a balance of $65,000.

Announcement was made by the commissioners of the resignation of John L. Burgan as superintendent of the County Home and the appointment of Martin L. Horn, warden of the County Prison since 1929, as his successor.

The County Prison Board has also announced that Fred C. Fluck, chief of police of Ambler, will succeed Mr. Horn as warden of the County Prison.

Honored

Last Friday night was

Valley resident, when he received the Charles H. Coffin award at the General Electric Company's annual Philadelphia banquet in the Hotel Warwick.

The award is "for unusual service" and consists of a scroll and a check for $250. It is given but once a year and to but one person in the United States.

Presented to Mr. Smith by C. K. West, Merion Golf Manor, commercial vice-president of the company, the scroll reads:

"For outstanding commercial integrity and dependability typified by the complete confidence which his customers place in his judgment."

Mr. Smith, who is a commercial engineer for the G. E., has lived in Narberth and Penn Valley for twenty-four years and has been connected with the General Electric Company for a quarter of a century.

Seeks Nomination

FRED C. PETERS

Petitions are being circulated for the nomination of Mr. Peters to the Republican State Committee. He is president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners, and served 8 years in the State Legislature.

John Mraz Awarded Merion Legion Medal for Scouting

Award of the Merion Post, No. 545, American Legion, "for excellence in scouting during the last year" was made to John Mraz, son of Mrs. Betsy I. Mraz, 510 Rockavon road, Merion, Tuesday night at the post's meeting.

The medal, made by William Wilson for the Legion, was presented "to the member of the Merion Liberty Troop who showed the greatest advancement."

Present were 36 members of the troop who enjoyed a "Father and Son" program, and a talk by A. Bernard Leekie, new head of the Philadelphia F. B. I., who talked on G-Men and showed a film, "You Can't Get Away With It."

More Business and less traffic congestion in Narberth could be obtained if merchants would only load and unload their trucks at the rear, instead of in front, of their stores.

So Mrs. Ralph C. Heath, civic leader and former president of the Women's Community Club, told 60 members of the Narberth Business Council Monday night in the green room of the Arcadia Restaurant, Narberth.

Mrs. Heath pointed out that such a move would increase business because shoppers would have more convenient space in which to park.

In other respects she lauded local business concerns for the excellent merchandise carried and service rendered to the public.

Ralph S. Dunne, president, introduced the speakers who included P. M. Allen, Germantown advertising man, who discussed Narberth's potential trade area, a five-mile radius of the borough.

The movement to establish a national association for small businessmen was discussed by Mrs. Suzanne Joret Gill and Mr. Dunne, both of whom attended the recent conference for small businessmen in Washington.

Skit for Merion League

The Merion Branch of the League of Women Voters will meet Wednesday at 2:30 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. J. Alden Tift, on Baird road, Merion.

"Know Your Township," a skit on township affairs, will be presented by the members of the Committee of Government and Its Operations, Mrs. Robert Wetherald, of Narberth, chairman.

Lenten Conference Monday

Episcopal churches of the Eastern Main Line will be represented in a Lenten all-day educational conference for the Women's Auxiliaries, Monday at All Saints' Church in Wynnewood. There will be Holy Communion at 10 A. M., followed by devotional services in charge of Mrs. William Jeffreys, president of the Auxiliary of the Convocation of Chester.

3 Field Fires in Week

Narberth firemen were called upon to extinguish three field fires in the last week: One at 12:27 P. M., February 23, back of the Narberth Methodist Church; another at 1:30 P. M.,

Return of Whipping Post is Proposed by Merion Residents

Old-Fashioned Punishment is Crime Deterrent, Civic Association Hears

OVER 200 ARE PRESENT

The use of an old-time whipping post as a crime deterrent was proposed by Clarence E. Hall, Philadelphia attorney and former president of the Merion Civic Association, at a tea and reception given by the Association, Sunday.

This suggestion came at the close of a talk by A. Bernard Leekie, new head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of Philadelphia, which was heard by 200 members and residents of Merion, including a delegation of 40 Boy Scouts from Merion troops.

Mr. Hall's proposal was seconded by two other Merionites, who spoke of its value and urged its return. They were George F. Pettinos, of 739 Beacom lane, head of the Philadelphia firm which bears his name, who referred to the Biblical quotation, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," and Oswald Smith, investment broker, of 740 South Highland avenue.

Mr. Smith said that he had spent some time in Wilmington, Delaware, where the whipping post is used in the prison yard of the New Castle County jail. "It is used successfully in Delaware," he explained, "and I think you will find it helps to keep down crime."

The new head of Philadelphia G-men told Merion residents how they could co-operate with law enforcement officers in preventing crime and arresting criminals. He told of ten ways in which they could aid the police courts. They are: Serve on juries, follow criminal cases to be sure that convicts serve their terms, fight collusion among politics, courts and criminals, never fail to testify when called upon, see that police are delightfully depicted by Past Presidents before Women's Club

The torture of two hostesses giving a party was told in "Hospitality," a hilarious comedy given by members of the dramatic group of the Past Presidents' Club of Montgomery County before the Women's Community Club of Narberth, Tuesday afternoon. Viola solos were played by William Wren, of Narberth, accompanied by Roger Morehouse.

Mrs. Herbert Levan, of North Wales, and Mrs. A. John Spaeth, of Lansdale, were well cast as the social climbing sisters giving the tea, as was Mrs. J. A. Hongler, of Narberth, as the simple, wholesome sister for whom it was given. Mrs. Ralph C. Heath, of Narberth, kept the audience laughing as the gluttonous, busy-body neighbor who told the truth at all costs. Others in the splendid cast were: Mrs. Charles Ridington, of Lansdale, president of the Montgomery County Federation; Mrs. Thomas Mills, of Bala-Cynwyd; Mrs. A. G. Miller and Mrs. S. E. Slocum, of Ardmore, and Mrs. Goodwyn Davis, of Bryn Mawr. Mrs. C. A. Farmer, of the Narberth Club, directed the play.

Mr. Wren charmed his audience with two groups of solos. Among the numbers were: "Reverie" by Debussy,

The Soldier's

Medal for bravery in line of duty was conferred posthumously Wednesday night upon Lieutenant Jonathan Clinton Foltz.

Colonel Jerome G. Pillow, chief of staff, 79th Division, pinned the medal on the hero's wife, the former Louise Jones, daughter of Mrs. William J. Jones, 103 South Narberth avenue, Narberth, at a ceremony in the Customs House, Philadelphia.

Lieutenant Foltz lost his life on August 26, 1937, in rescuing George Kolt from the flood waters of Kelsey Creek. He aided the youth to a point of safety, but was exhausted by the effort and was swept down stream.

Kolt was one of the boys under Lieutenant Foltz' command at a C. C. Camp, near Wellsboro.

The lieutenant was only 30.

United Campaign Workers Start Drive for Needed Funds

Many volunteers for United Campaign workers from this section attended the inaugural "Dutch Treat" dinner at the Bellevue at the Hotel Tuesday.

With a greater need and a consequent higher goal facing them, these volunteers are settling down to the task of raising about 40 per cent more than last year to keep 141 campaign agencies going for another year.

The fact has been confirmed by outside certified public accountants that 93 cents out of every dollar contributed goes to the agencies which provide the more than 250 kinds of humanitarian services to the needy and sick that are not included in the government program.

A "talkie" of Henry S. Drinker, Jr., general chairman for the 1938 United Campaign, who lives in Merion, is being shown in motion picture theaters throughout the area.

Active Firemen Enjoy Kraut
Supper and Talks on Blazes

The regular monthly meeting of the Active Members' Club of the Narberth Fire Company was held Friday evening, February 25. The meeting was a large success with one of the largest turnouts we have ever had of twenty-five active firemen probably because of the wonderful sauer kraut supper that preceded the meeting, which was prepared by Head Chef Cunningham and assistants Young, Mallard, Roesler, Barker and Jim Gillespie.

We were honored by the presence of Chief Blair of the Autocar Co., who gave a very interesting talk entitled "The Smoke-Eaters' Menu." He warned the men of the various gases that develop at fires and told of the best way to combat them. Our own newly elected Chief John Miller then gave a short talk on fire and conduct at fires in general.

Republican Women In Forum

The Republican Women of Pennsylvania will conduct a Consumers' Forum on Monday at three o'clock at the Hannah Penn House in Philadelphia. J. Hector McNeal, member of the Consumers' Advisory Board, Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, will speak on "Consumers' Relationships."

Tea will be served with Mrs. Robert G. Cunningham and Miss M. Amelia Robinson at the tea table.

The Friends Peace Committee and the Women's International League in co-operation with other interested groups, are planning an all-day Institute on Saturday, March 5, on "Education for Peaceful Change Through the Church, the Home, the School, and the Community."

Impressed by the futility and tragedy of war, many people are asking what can be done. We have, therefore, planned this institute to provide study and discussion on methods for peaceful change.

Junior High School
Plans Revised to Reduce Cost $100,000

New Bld. for Bala-Cynwyd
Building Will be Opened
March 7

BOND ISSUE IS $963,288.00

Revised plans for the new Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School, estimated to reduce the cost of construction from $75,000 to $100,000, were approved by the Lower Merion Board of Education last week.

New bids for the building will be opened by the board March 7. Original bids for the junior high were rejected by the board February 10. Bids also received then for remodeling the Cynwyd Elementary School and the old Academy building have not been acted upon.

In his report to the board, S. E. Downs, superintendent of schools, pointed out that it will be necessary to secure a reduction of $150,000 to bring the cost of the three projects within the limits of the bond issue which amounted to $963,288.

Architects for the junior high attended the meeting and explained the changes which had been made in the plans. Most of the changes, M. Edmunds Dunlap, architect, stated, are in materials and omission of items which are not necessary for the durability or appearance of the building.

Some of the changes include substitution of wrought iron for bronze in the railings, elimination of the terrace in the court, reduction in height of ceilings seven inches, omission of painting classroom walls, use of a cheaper wainscoting material, elimination of swinging blackboards, elimination of some toilets.

In the event that bids for the three projects cannot be obtained for the amount provided by the bond issue, the board is preparing to incur additional indebtedness as may be necessary.

Miss McCabe has been elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Secretaries Association.

The Garden

Lawn School at Haverford. How lawns in suburban Philadelphia differ with those in England will be related by Fred V. Grau at the opening session of the 7th annual Philadelphia Lawn School on the morning and afternoon of Tuesday, March 8, at Haverford Union, Haverford College.

Following Grau's illustrated talk, H. B. Musser will report on two years' research work with various fertilizers on fine turf at the experimental plots of the Pennsylvania State College. Local lawn owners will tell of past practices that improved their lawns, at the afternoon session. Those who will contribute to the program are: Mrs. Joseph P. Sims, Chestnut Hill; Joseph Valentine, Haverford; Leslie Fyfe, Germantown; George Benner, Devon; Percy Holden, Germantown; Robert Engle, Philadelphia. At that time everyone present may ask questions concerning his own lawn.

Some lawn owners are planning to bring a sod from their lawns, placed in a 10-inch pot, to compare with exhibits from other lawns.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Geiger, Sr., of Stepping Stones, and their daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Jonathan S. Wilford and Miss Evelyn Jean Wilford, of Wind Rush Harbor Farm, Oxford, Md., have left for a ten days' stay at the Cloisters, Sea Island, Ga.

Mrs. Brooks Semple, of Sussex road will entertain the members of her club at luncheon and bridge next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hamilton, of Arthur's Round Table, will occupy their new home in Chestnut Hill on Monday, March 14.

Too Daring?

In its avid search for new themes to photograph, one section of history, carefully neglected has been that time of the past in which the Borgias reigned.

For the first time on any screen, the entire story of the Borgias may be seen at the Suburban Theatre where "Lucrezia Borgia" starts Sunday for five days.

"Henry the Eighth," Catherine the Great," and other figures of history have all been exposed to Kleig lights of the film studios.

But it has remained for the French, under the direction of Abel Gance to photograph the story of the Borgias. Lucrezia, Cesar, Machiavelli, who left an indelible mark on the pages of history may now be seen in the picture "Lucrezia Borgia."

Great care was exercised to make this crimson page of history worthy of itself. The picture was two years in the making and the finest actors of France are employed in this picture. Cesar Borgia, probably history's most hated villain, is here expertly portrayed by Gabriel Gabrio, the greatest living actor in France.

High School senior boys are invited to compete for eight scholarships for four years study at Muhlenberg College, Allentown. The scholarships, valued at $1200 each, are available for the first time in September of this year and will be awarded annually.

Application blanks may be obtained from the high school principal and must be forwarded to the college no later than April 1.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" will be presented by the Lower Merion High School Music Department, under the direction of Bruce C. Beach, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at the high school auditorium, Ardmore.

"Hurricane"—Powerful South
Sea Spectacle—at Narberth

at the Narberth Theater is "The Hurricane," from the same pens that wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," and one of the most breath-taking pictures ever filmed. "The big wind" that turned a tropical paradise into a barren sand dune makes the picture, but there is also a lovely romance between Jon Hall, a native leader, and Dorothy Lamour, daughter of the island chieftain. Gripping prison scenes at Tahiti help in providing the suspense before the hurricane. Also prominently cast are C. Aubrey Smith as a priest and Mary Astor, wife of the governor.

"Beg, Borrow or Steal," based on the play of the same name and starring Frank Morgan and Florence Rice, is the attraction Monday and Tuesday.

Wednesday, Jane Withers will be seen in "45 Fathers."

Next week-end's feature will be "You're a Sweetheart" with Alice Faye.

On Thursday night the Drama Committee will sponsor the open meeting to which those interested in Mrs. Baily, "Candida," the Narberth Juniors, or all three—are urged to attend. As you know there is no charge for an "open" meeting. Mrs. Baily is well known and much loved by the juniors, having given them "The Children's Hour," "Victoria Regina," and "Wingless Victory." She is the best "one-person cast" we know. Those who have heard her and those who have not, have a treat in store. . . . March 10 at 8:15. Miss Margaret Kent and her Drama Committee are in charge of the evening's entertainment, with Mrs. George Wycoff as hostess.

HE THANKED US FOR AN AD!

"Somewhere," began a recent telephone advertisement, "someone would be happy to hear your voice. Perhaps a youngster away at school . . . a distant friend or relative . . . a wife or mother back home and lonely. Let 'Long Distance' span the miles—take you to their side tonight while rates are low . . ."

A few days after this ad was published, a very unusual letter reached the company. It read "Tonight I'm miles from home. A while ago I sat alone in my hotel room worrying about my little son at home, sick. I saw your advertisement, then I telephoned my wife. Baby's better. Tonight I'll be able to sleep. Thank you for your advertisement."

Why wonder and worry when it's so easy, so convenient and so economical to get the answer you want at once by telephone?

The facilities of this entire organization are ready any hour of the day or night to speed your voice across the miles to anyone anywhere. These oft-repeated words reveal the value of this service. "I don't know what I'd do without the telephone." The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Chuck into your heater a good supply of hard, clean long-lasting Jeddo-Highland Coal before you tackle that breakfast of Wheaties.

Repeat the dose when you have finished your afterdinner cigar. That's all there is to the trick of an easily heated home. And say! should you come home early the second day, we bet you'll find your wife singing "Happy days are here again."

Shall we send one or two tons for a starter? Jeddo-Highland Coal costs no more than other coals, here at "Heat Headquarters." Call Narberth 2430 and just say when you want it.

Elliott and Munger Will Speak on 'Invitation Day'

Methodist Cathedral of the Main Line Invites Neighbors March 6

TO HOLD "OPEN HOUSE"

On Sunday, March 6, at 11 A. M., George W. Elliott, General Secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. George Barnes, prominent Main Line speaker, and George Munger, Narberth's new head football coach of the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at the Bala-Cynwyd-Merion Methodist Episcopal Church, at 1000 M. L. road and Bala avenue, at 10.

The occasion will be "Invitation Day," when everyone in Bala, Cynwyd, Merion and the surrounding neighborhoods will be invited to inspect the newly finished interior furnishings of the "Methodist Cathedral of the Main Line."

Mr. Elliott, who has served as Fire Marshall and Director of Public Safety in Philadelphia, first came into prominence when he was selected by Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler to be his assistant, when Butler was brought to Philadelphia to enforce the dry laws. For many years Elliott has been superintendent of the Sunday School of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church and president of the Philadelphia Boy Council.

Mrs. George Emerson Barnes, noted Main Line club speaker and prominent in church activities, has an enviable reputation as a most interesting lecturer and reviewer of books.

George Munger, the new head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, is one of the youngest head coaches of a major university in the country, whose modern ideas are expected to startle the football world this coming season with a powerfully rejuvenated offensive team. Munger is one of the outstanding examples of that happy combination of modern education and clean living. His message to the youth of today is to consider their religious training just as necessary to eventual success in life as every other endeavor.

The Bala-Cynwyd-Merion Methodist Episcopal Church is one of the most beautiful cathedrals in our part of the country, costing more than $125,000. It is an authentic Gothic structure, correct in every line and detail, reflecting dignity and solidity of purpose.

Entering through the stately Gothic Bishop Simpson Memorial Entrance, one sees the imposing "Brotherhood" window, the gift of Mrs. Gladys Campbell Baker, and the $15,000 William V. Long memorial organ, the last word in modern musical church instruments. Then, the sedate and graceful Gothic interior arches impress you with their quiet strength and beauty of line.

During the past year more than $15,000 have been spent to beautify the nave, including new carpets, aisle ashlar, marble chancel floor and altar, a narthex screen and doors with balcony front, new lighting fixtures, and chancel furniture of pulpit, lectern, reredos and altar brass.

Dr. Duncombe states that he is personally anxious to meet his neighbors of other denominations. The main idea is for everyone to come and inspect and to get acquainted.

vited—nay, urgently requested as a patriotic undertaking—to buy before next week ends.

The route will be: Villanova Stadium, east on Lancaster pike to City line, north on City line to Bala avenue, north on Bala to Montgomery avenue, west on Montgomery to Haverford avenue, Narberth, north on Haverford to North Wynnewood avenue, north on North Wynnewood to Montgomery, west on Montgomery to Airdale avenue, Rosemont; northwest on Airdale to County Line road, thence west on Lancaster to Malvern, then returning to Villanova Stadium.

And next Monday night at 8 o'clock, a stack of antique jalopies that have graced many a dealer's lot these winter months, will form a funeral pyre at Villanova College, scene of many a less pleasant conflagration. The fire, superintended by Radnor firemen and police, will be on the south side of the pike, opposite the football stadium.

Old cars disposed of, newer ones refurnished with dealers' guarantees of good service—after that it's up to the car buyers, who have as much at stake as does the motor industry, be it wether of national recession and national prosperity.

Neighborhood Club Hears Vivid Description of Antarctic Expedition

Members of the Neighborhood Club of Bala-Cynwyd heard a vivid description of Admiral Byrd's second expedition to the South Pole when Amory H. Waite, Jr., spoke before the group last week.

Waite was radio operator on the expedition and one of three men who rescued Admiral Byrd at the end of the five-month vigil near the South Pole. He also showed 120 slides, many of them photographs taken by himself, which brought a clear picture of the setting to his listeners.

Touching on the historical background of Antarctic explorations, the speaker told of the preparations necessary for the Byrd expedition, the physical conditions of "Little America," and the hardships as well as the pastimes the men endured.

Equipment and articles of clothing which he wore in the Antarctic were also exhibited, as was the thermometer which Byrd had in his solitary observation post. A scratch on the thermometer indicated the lowest temperature registered, 81 degrees below zero.

TIME OUT

Spring's Approach Threatens Stability of Basketball

Early March days, in spite of windy breezes and a springy tang to the air, seem different this year. The reason, I'm convinced, is the fact that Lower Merion is not in the state basketball tournament. For several seasons we Main Liners have been driving furiously over the rolling hills of Eastern Pennsylvania following the fortunes of our experts in basketry, but now the Lions of early March are howling dismally for us. We must await another indoor season and see what Bill Anderson can unveil from his wealth of material from this year's sophomore class.

Radnor's Roaring Raiders have done very well indeed this season along the wooden way, but slipped Tuesday night at the Palestra when they permitted Upper Darby to tie up the series—necessitating a third game to night on the same floor.

Coach Bill Anderson's sprightly little fellows tangle with Haverford High this week—in fact last night was the date. Too late to get the outcome for our column, this game will very likely be won by the Haverford contingent—due to the fact that the crocuses are budding on the hill sides below the Mason and Dixon Line and their scent is being borne along the winds to the various members of the team. Watching them practice for awhile the past week I noticed that the ball seemed to be particularly heavy and it was a bit troublesome for the players to bend or reach. Frankly, it's a nice feeling this time of the year, and I can't blame the boys at all. They've had enough basketball for now and playing Haverford is more or less along the same lines as the Giants meeting the Pac Main Line League team in a baseball brush. Both good, but hardly an anti-climax. Maybe Lower Merion will win—in fact I would venture slight wager if Coach Bill we'll see his Sophomore boys. They're still of a devilish urge to go places and win things and there is plenty of power there. With Larry Day, George Paine and one or two others subs from the Junior and Senior classes to act as stabilizers it should be so hard.

The Junior High squad, with a record of 14 wins and 2 losses for a current season, enters the Montgomery County Championships next week. The drawings have not been published by the Norristown Men's organization so we don't know just who the Leopards will meet in their first encounter. The Orange and Black outfit look a bit tired at the present time, as it would not surprise me if they lost out early in the series. Rittenhouse or Stewart, or even Springfield, might easily take their measure. If they play well up to form, however, they should take the diadem.

Narberth School

Sports

On February 21 the boys played a intermural game. Narrigan's team played Miller's team and Heath's team played Hayward's team. Miller's team won the score being 6-4. Also Hayward's team won. The score was 5-11.

February 25 brought around another boys' big basketball game. We played Oaklyn at Oaklyn. They won, the score being 28-36.

BETTY HOLLAR, Student Reporter.

Washington's Birthday

On February 18, Mr. Harkness had charge of the auditorium program. Bob Tabor read the devotions. Lois Schenck read two poems about George Washington. Because it was near Washington's Birthday, the D. A. R. sent Mary B. Nollen, from the National School of Elocution and Oratory. She told a few stories and dramatized a scene from "Penrod and Sam."

Movies on Byrd

There was a talking movie for the children on February 26. The Philadelphia Electric Company sent a picture on Byrd's second trip to the South Pole. It showed how they had to dig a town up that he had made on his previous visit. It also showed how hard it is to live in such an isolated country.

Learning to Paint

This is the second part of the Narberth School activity program.

The outstanding interest of work under Miss Buckaloos' supervision, in the kindergarten is transportation. At the beginning of the year the children were mostly interested in ships. They made some from "monkey blocks," and also drew a few. Most of the boys and girls like to paint. Earlier in the year they were not used to painting, but now they can do it quite well without getting it all died Sunday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs.

OBITUARY

Charles V. Noel, of 232 North Narberth avenue. He was 78.

Although in failing health for some time, his final illness was only two days.

Clements A. Fletcher was a resident of Narberth for 33 years and, until his retirement about 18 months ago, was connected with the Ketterlinus Lithographic Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia.

In addition to his daughter, Mr. Fletcher is survived by his wife, Mrs. Loretta J. Fletcher, to whom he had been married for 55 years.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Oliver H. Bair Funeral Parlor. Burial was in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Fletcher was a great friend of his son-in-law, Charles V. Noel, who died just eight weeks previously while fighting a blaze in Merion in his capacity as Narberth fire chief.

Samuel Clarke,

beloved citizen of Narberth, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert C. Miller, 311 North Narberth avenue, after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday, with interment at Lancaster, his former home.

Mr. Clarke, who was 82, is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. Walter E. Grevatt, of Montclair, N. J.

Born in the north of Ireland, Mr. Clarke came to this country as a very young man and later began a long business association with Sweet-Orr and Company, clothing manufacturers, of New York.

He had lived in Narberth for many years and made a host of friends, many of whom he outlived. Among his hobbies was that of collecting bits of verse and philosophy which he had printed on cards and then distributed among his acquaintances.

He also traveled a great deal throughout his life and, whenever possible, always took along one or more friends on his trips.

His genial philosophy endeared him to both old and young.

He was a member of the Woodland Presbyterian Church of West Philadelphia.

CHARLES A. Verna

Former Narberth neighbors of Charles A. Verna were grieved to learn of his death, Thursday of last week, at his home in Philadelphia. Services were held Saturday morning at Our Lady of Lourdes, Overbrook. Mr. Verna is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Verna, and several brothers. The Vernas were residents of Narberth for many years, during which time Mrs. Verna was active in the Women's Community Club. Before moving to Philadelphia, the Vernas lived for some time on Wynnewood road.

over their smocks.

Some of the children are interested in sewing. They are making marble bags, dolls' dresses and blankets. One child is making a doll.

Around the room there are lockers under which are found the children's names. In these they keep their aprons or smocks.

More Sports

On February 28, the intramural teams played another game. This time Miller's played Hayward and Narrigan played Heath. Miller won in the first game with a score of 9-4. In the second game Narrigan won with a score of 13-7.

Do your sheets last as long as this school's?

In returning sheets recently to one of our original patrons, a large school, we noticed they were marked with the original date when they were purchased. For some of them, it was 1920.

"Did you know"—St. Mary's driver proudly asked the housekeeper—"that the average life of a bed sheet is four years? Why, our care in washing and ironing has prolonged the life of these sheets for 18 years!"

She smiled a canny smile, and headed for a store room—to emerge with a sheet dated 1918.

"It's still giving good service," she said. "—And so are you!"
